Indiana Worker's Compensation
Institute, Inc.

Laura C. Hagenow focuses on the defense of worker's compensation claims throughout the State of Indiana. She has more than 28 years of legal experience defending various civil litigation matters, ranging from family law, employment law, medical malpractice, worker's compensation and general liability.

Before concentrating her practice on worker's compensation, Laura also defended and represented clients in medical malpractice, ADA, employment litigation, general insurance defense, such as premises liability, auto accidents, and defamation actions.

Laura has represented health care corporations and directors throughout various stages of criminal neglect cases prosecuted by the Attorney General's Office, the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, Adult Protective Services, Postal Investigators and during the massive execution of a search warrant by over fifty federal agents.

Laura has given presentations on the handling of Indiana Worker's Compensation for a number of claims representatives, TPAs, and self-insured employers including:

- Amerisure
- Berkley Assigned Risk
- Berkley Net
- Broadspire
- CCMSI
- FedEx Ground
- Gallagher Bassett
- Hitachi
- Matrix
- Meijer
- Secura Insurance
- Sedgwick
- Society Insurance
- Southwest Airlines
- Synergy Insurance

Laura is known for her excellent work product, thorough and detailed analysis and is extremely skilled at efficient case handling and prompt resolution. Because of these talents, she develops an outstanding rapport with her clients.

Outside of the office, Laura enjoys traveling, attending concerts, coaching cheerleading and staying active with her family. They water and snow ski, as well as engage in other forms of physical fitness. Laura is a Eucharistic minister at her church and volunteers for various charitable organizations.
