Tim implements a thorough yet aggressive approach representing employers of all sizes with their workers' compensation claims. He graduated with honors and earned his Juris Doctor degree from John Marshall Law School.

Prior to joining Kopka, Pinkus & Dolin, Tim gained significant experience in workers' compensation defense with other respected Chicago defense firms, where he litigated cases at trial and appeal levels.

In his free time, Tim enjoys cheering on his beloved Chicago sports teams as well as spending time with friends and family.
